MAN IN UNIONTOWN NOT THE MUCH WANTED BUONO

Chief Albright Makes Trip There, Only to Find Wrong Man

PICTURES SENT OUT

Buono's Friends Surprised to Find Descriptions Have Been Widely Spread

Chief of Police C. W. Albright received word from Uniontown Tuesday evening that the police there had arrested a man believed to be August Buono, the alleged murder of Calarego Sanflippi. Chief Albright went to Uniontown Wednesday morning but found that the man arrested was not the one wanted here.

Circulars giving a description of Buono with his picture have been well distributed by the local authorities. A description with his picture has appeared in practically all the Pittsburg newspapers. It is reported that some of his friends here are trying to find where the police got the picture of Buono. It was thought by them that every picture of the man had been destroyed and they are somewhat surprised to find that they were mistaken.

It is believed that the arrest of Buono would connect some of his other countrymen with the murder of Sanflippi. It is stated that Buono was not in the habit of loafing in the McKean avenue barber shop at the rear of which the murder was committed, but that the murdered man was in the habit of being there. The afternoon before the murder it is stated that Buono was seen to pass the shop several times with two of his countrymen and several times they stopped and looked into the shop, apparently looking for some one.

Sleepers Numerous

Even Hundred Apply During Month for Lodging at Police Station

Beginning on November 10 Chief-of-Police C. W. Albright began to register all persons who applied at the police station for a place to sleep. Since then there have just 100 men applied at the station for a night's lodging. The majority of the men were hard working men, who were in search of work. It was plainly shown that they as a rule were not the common "Weary Willies" of the road.

The majority of the men were given a bowl of soup before they went to their cot. Borough council authorized Chief Albright to give each man applying for a lodging a bowl of soup, if hungry and appearing deserving.

COMMITTEE HEARKENS TO MAGEE

Pennsylvania Canal Commission Appears at Washington

ARGUE FOR SHIP CANAL

The merits of the movement to construct a Lake Erie and Ohio River ship canal were presented formally today to the members of the Rivers and Harbors committee of the present congress by the members of the Pennsylvania canal board now working on that project. Former Mayor William A. Magee, of Pittsburg as chairman of the Pennsylvania commission made the speech to the committee in furtherance of the plan. Tom P. Sloan of Charleroi was among the members of the commission present.

Mr. Magee explained in detail the reasons for the proposed canal, stating that it would be one of the most important connecting waterways that could be constructed in the United States and submitting proof for his statements. He spoke in favor of the Illinois canal, as well as the local canal.

In summing up his remarks, Mr. Magee said:

"The proposed Ohio and Pennsylcania canal and the Illinois canal therefore in their essence should not be considered from the view of two short sighted cities bent upon local aggrandizement, but as the most important immediate steps towards consolidating all the waterways into one system, thus cheapening the costs of doing business the country over and with the world at large, and indirectly therefore as enlarging the opportunities and more easily supplying the wants of mankind."

PETITIONS OUT FOR POSTMASTER

Californians on Anxious Seat Concerning Important Appointment

Petitions are in circulation by at least three persons for appointment to the postmastership of the California postoffice. They are H. T. Ghrist, J. E. Coatsworth and Howard C. Crowthers, says the California Sentinel.

Postmaster W. W. Latta's term will expire February 16, 1915. Mr Latta has served the people of California efficiently during his term, having been appointed shortly before the Democrats upset the order of things. He is a Republican appointee, however and the next postmaster must be a Democrat.

All three candidates for the office are good men and any one of them will make an efficient postmaster. Upon the O. K. of Joe Martin, of Washington, now the county chairman of the Democratic party in Washington county will probably depend, to a large extent the awarding of this choice political plum.

PECULIAR SWINDLING GAME IS SUCCESSFUL

Ellsworth Center of Operations for Alleged Repair Man

GIVE MONEY AND WATCH

Foreigners Caught Easily—Stranger Seen in Charleroi But Not Apprehended

What is believed to be a new swindling scheme is said to have been successfully worked in the vicinity of Ellsworth and other sections within the last few days among the foreigners. The alleged swindler is said to have worked the Ellsworth section last week and to have been seen in Charleroi Wednesday.

The scheme that was worked in Ellsworth was that of a watch repair man. The schemer would tell the foreigner that he would repair his watch if he would give him a dollar and leave the watch, the balance to be paid when the watch was returned.

Last Friday afternoon a foreigner at Ellsworth fell for the scheme and let the stranger have his watch. Wednesday the foreigner was in Charleroi and he saw the stranger standing on the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield. The foreigner asked the stranger for his watch and was informed by the stranger that he didn't have his watch. The Ellsworth man gives the value of his watch at $18.

The foreigner then appealed to the police. A search was made but the man could not be located. He is described as wearing a black overcoat and carrying two grips, one of which is red and the other black.

NO KICK COMING.

There is no kick coming on the weather. Originally disagreeable conditions have existed during the last few days, but instead of registering a complaint we should remember a little better what we have been wanting and think a little harder of what will do us the most general good. The Pittsburg Gazette Times has an editorial on the subject remarks:

This rain was needed—perhaps not ereabout for immediate wants but for the coming year. We have been running short of normal precipitation 1914, and it is a mighty good thing that what has been showered upon us has been spread over a number of days. For thus it sinks to the soil and accomplishes a lasting purpose later on. Out in Kansas they would give their eye teeth for a similar visitation of Providence. The danger there is that the abnormal crops of 1914 will be followed in 1915 by a drought. It seems strange that the fortunate Kansan should have been worrying through this fall about next year, but such is the case. Unless they get soaking rains—not cloudbursts or violent downpours—the autumn or early winter preceding, there is small possibility of bountiful harvest in the summer following.

Here at home there is concrete and prompt value in the rains of the past week for the river coal trade. Long-delayed shipments down the Ohio and Mississippi began several days ago and these mean cash for the operators and more activity and employment at the mines. In Eastern Pennsylvania the storm which played such terrible mischief along the Atlantic coast has proved a veritable blessing to hundreds of thousands of people, to the vast anthracite mining industry in half a dozen counties, to railroads which have been hauling water for their locomotives and shops and of course to farmers. Over that way they have had a serious shortage of water for all purposes. In one city of 30,000 the public supply was turned on but a couple of hours a day.

Thus it is, one way or another, everywhere. Sometimes rain storms do damage. They are unpleasant and uncomfortable and at a near-holiday season they are unwelcome. But in a larger degree than thoughtless man can measure, or is always ready to appreciate, they perform vital service in the grand plan of life and the means of existence. Besides, in Western Pennsylvania we have had a rarely delightful fall and more sunshine and kindly winds than ordinarily—so why kick on the wetness and dark days of December? It's all in the year's work, and you can't help it no matter how much you kick.

DEMOCRATIC TARIFF

The Underwood Tariff [illegible] in effect for almost a year and the results of this have reached [illegible] ington county. The coal mines are closed or not running full time, says the Washington News. The miners are out of work, and in many districts suffering and want is already at hand or being anticipated to such an extent that aid is being requested from the county seat. The assumption that the importation of cheaper goods would make for reduced cost of living has not been sustained. The cost of living is higher. This is not a result of the European war, as the necessities of life were higher before the war began than when the law was put into effect.

The theory that if we buy more from foreigners, that they will buy more form us has been disproved as our favorable trade balance for the year ending June 30, 1914, was $170,000 less than it was the year before. The assumption that home laborers displaced by the products of foreign countries would find employment producing other goods for these foreign countries for foreign made goods is thousands of idle workers swarming through the country.

The tariff is not a local issue, as the loss of the gold sent to the foreign countries for feoreign made goods is having an effect on the whole United States. Every class feels it, even to the baseball magnates, who recently closed one of the most disastrous seasons in history. Laughlin says: "If we look below the surface we will see that it is not so much a scarcity of money as the unsalability of goods." This is the difficulty but the lack of gold is that which makes the goods not salable. The value of gold has not been destroyed, but it might as well be, as that part of it which would have made the gods salable has gone out of the country.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The difference between the other man and us is that we can't see his viewpoint.

It begins to look as though all European countries had better have all taken out life insurance.

The thing we like about some of those Europeans is that in spite of their objections to being shot they will fight when informed they have to.

WOODA CARR TO CONTEST LATE ELECTION

Wooda N. Carr of Uniontown, well known in Charleroi, who is now representing the Twenty-third Pennsylvania District in the house of Representatives returned to Washington Wednesday and announced that he would begin a contest against Robert F. Hopwood, Republican, who was elected to succeed him. Mr. Carr says he will serve notice on Mr. Hopwood within the next few days that he intends to contest for the seat.

Mr. Hopwood was elected by a plurality of approximately 2,100 votes. Mr. Carr will claim the improper expenditure of money and money not accounted for by his opponent, also alleged corporation interference in the election.

[illegible] will be charged that the total vote cast for Mr. Hopwood and his Progressive opponent, all of which came from Republicans, totaled 11,000, which is between 2,500 and 3,000 more votes than the combined Taft and Roosevelt vote of 1912.

Mr. Carr will point out that prior to the November election he, with other Democrats, succeeded in having stricken from the registry lists 2,000 alleged phantom voters and that further purging of the rolls would have been accomplished had time permitted.

Mr. Hopwood will have 30 days in which to reply to the charges of his Democratic opponent. After each side has presented its testimony to the clerk of the house and it is formally referred to that body. Speaker Clark will send the case to the committee for consideration, when the new house convenes in December, 1915.

PAYS TO WATCH THE PENNIES

Real Explanation of Why Some Men Are Wealthy, and Others Are Directly the Reverse.

It is a habit that a rich man assumes to pick up a penny wherever or whenever they can conveniently, and sometimes they will go out of their way to do so. I remember when I was a small boy, that was nearly fifty years ago, a very wealthy man in our city came driving along toward a high overhead railroad bridge I was playing with some companions of mine on the bridge

I cannot exactly remember why it was done but I fished a penny out of my pocket and was showing it to my boy companions when it slipped through my fingers and dropped to the pavement below. The wealthy old man drove up, and to all appearances he was in deep thought with his head buried upon his chest.

He saw my penny, however, deliberately stopped his horse, getting out of his carriage, picked up that penny, pocketed it, and returning to his wagon drove off as if nothing had ever happened.

There was a sad heart pulsing over his head, I can tell you, for a penny in those days was as big as a dime is to a boy today, and I felt the loss of it keenly. That man was a multimillionaire, and by just such little things as that was how he was constantly accumulating more all of the time.

The average boy of today does not take advantage of his opportunities to make and to save. There seem to be too many forms of temptation thrown in his way to rid him of his extra dimes and nickels, when if they were saved and deposited in some savings institution a startling result would be achieved in a few years.—Portland Express and Advertiser.

DRAMA FOUND IN EVERYTHING

Philosophical Tribute to the Morbidly Curious, Who Are Subject to Much Criticism.

Dickens noted in his day—as I in mine—how casual people in the street would flatten their noses against the window of a chemist's shop in order to catch a glimpse of some little surgical repair which the victim of a trivial accident might be undergoing in the back parlor.

"Morbid curiosity," says the superior person, who may none the less have taken his own measures to become acquainted with each gory detail. The superior person is notoriously short sighted and may even be said to wear blinkers; the nose flatteners are not, perhaps, articulate, and can give no philosophical description of the promptings which move them, but they are swayed, however, unconsciously, by the excitation of their dramatic sense.

They are doing reverence, though ignorant, to the foundation truth that there is drama in everything and even in nothing.—Percy Clare, in London Chronicle.

The Perpetual Blunderer.

Ever meet the affable gentleman who smilingly confesses that he has made a mistake in some matter or other and is richly and profoundly regretful—won't you forgive him—and bear the penalty of his blunder yourself, like a jolly fellow? Fine, gentle-mannered, valuable acquaintance, isn't he—this fellow with the infinite capacity for blundering and the generous capacity to apologize and leave you to hold the bag, puzzled to know just why you grasped hold of the thing? Afterward you regret meeting him and try to transfer your business elsewhere, don't you? Of course, all of us make mistakes in judgment and action—and most of us are quite ready to condone the occasional lapse from accuracy—but what shall we do with the fellow whose blunders average 20 per cent or more? Where is his place in the business system of the world? Ought he not as a mark of appreciation be given a job driving a garbage wagon?

Woodchuck "Bile 'Em Fust."

Horace Kephart once asked old Uncle Bob Flowers one of his neighbors in the Smokies "Did you ever eat a woodchuck?"

"Reckon I don't know what them is."

"Groundhog."

"O, la! dozens of 'em. The red ones hain't good but the gray ones! Man, they'd jest make yer mouth water!"

"How do you cook them?"

"Cut the leetle red kernels out from under their forelegs; then bile 'em fust—all the strong is left in the water—then pepper 'em and sage 'em, and put 'em in a pan and bake 'em to a nice rich brown, and—then I don't want nobody there but me!"—Buffalo News.

Beauty of Character.

There is a sweetness of the child, and a sweetness of the old. The sweetness of the child is largely independent of his personality. It is in his ways and in his looks, and the same thing is true, though not quite so much of the young woman. But when sweetness comes at sixty it is the expression of the very nature of the soul. J. M. Barrie somewhere, we believe, has said that no woman is really beautiful until she is fifty-three. The beauty that is worth most is the beauty that is connected with the character itself.—Selected.

CHARLEROI WINS GAME

Basketball Five Easily Takes Contest From Jeannette Club

After a few off nights the Charleroi team came to Wednesday night in a way that meant business, and with all hands playing the best kind of basketball walked away with a hot game from Jeannette by the score of 44 to 29. There were real doings in that game, be it remembered, with Captain Stark the chief manufacturer of Charleroi scores.

The game started off with a husky seventeen or eighteen footer lambasting the ball beyond the head of Allie Brown at center, but it didn't do him any good. To get at the substance of things the first half ended with Charleroi in the lead by a score of 25 to 7.

In the next half there was more excitement. Things were fast and furious and the Jeannette guards showed more form. However bringing up the total to 44 was comparatively easy for Charleroi.

Irwin, a new forward was in the game Wednesday night with Charleroi, and Mackey, who played the first game with the team was on guard, this time with full permission to play from the ruling body of the league. Lineup:

Charleroi—44		Jeannette—29
Stark	F	Carson
Irwin	F	Houser
Brown	C	Cook, Kelly
Mackey	G	Davis
Burke	G	Good

Field goals—Stark 7, Irwin 6, Brown 2, Mackey 2, Carson 2, Houser 3, Cook, Davis 4, Good. Goals from foul—Stark 10 of 13. Carson 2 of 5, Houser 5 of 10. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Steyttler. Timekeeper—Graeser. Scorer—Kuhn.

Wednesday Night's Result.
Charleroi 44—Jeannette 29.

WAR BULLETINS

London, Dec. 10—A British squadron under the command of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee, chief of the war staff, engaged a German squadron under Admiral Count von Spee, off the Falkland Islands, in the south Atlantic Tuesday and won a victory. The armoured cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisnau and the protective cruiser Leipzig, three of the German warships which have been menacing British shipping and a part of the squadron which sank the British cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth, in the Pacific on November 1, were destroyed, while the cruisers Dresden and Nurnberg and two other vessels which composed the squadron, made off during the fight. They are being pursued. Two colliers were captured. It is believed that Admiral Count von Spee went down with all men on the flagship. Some of the survivors were rescued from the Gneisenau and the Leipzig.

Talks To High School.

Evangelist Henry J. Giles, who is carrying on the tabernacle meetings in Bentleyville, gave the Bentleyville high school an interesting talk this morning. The senior class of the high school is endeavoring to secure the services of Rev. Giles to deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the commencement in the spring. The high school intends to make the coming graduation one of the most elaborate in the history of the institution, and to this end, they are endeavoring to secure the services of the renowned evangelist.

Large Attendance.

Last night was a banner one in attendance at the local tabernacle meetings. The Ellsworth band attended the meetings rendering music during recesses in the preaching. The enthusiasm of the former weeks seems fully as vigorous as ever. Evangelist Giles had an excellent sermon prepared and was greatly enjoyed by the audience. The benefits done in the community by the meetings are hardly describable.

Personal Mention.

Mrs Fell Huffman and children, Raymond and Gladys, of Pigeon Creek, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Huffman of South Main street.
